

Dear FCC:

Please DO NOT limit XM Radio's ability to deliver local content on their system. Satellite radio delivers great programming on a subscription basis that is simply unavailable elsewhere. Limiting their delivery of local content is simply an anticompetitive move by traditional broadcasters. This would be a gross misuse of the regulatory process, and I see no reason this should come to pass.

Thank you

James J. Riticher